CAMPBELL DRYER IS READY TO PROCESS RECORD LOCAL PRUNE CROP

By Jane Gugel

With operations at the Campbell Co-Operative Dryer getting underway this week residents of Campbell may point with pride to this dryer which is the largest of its kind in the world and attracts visitors from many nations to learn about its operation.

The plant was constructed in 1946 on the present site by a group of local farmers many of whom are still members of the co-operative. At that time the plant consisted of from 4 to 6 drying tunnels, a small portion of the 48 tunnels which will be operating this summer.

Expectations are that the plant will handle better than 13,000 tons of fruit this year as against the 12,146 tons handled in 1953. The bumper crop is expected because the prunes have had an ideal growing season with lots of warm weather which will bring larger sized fruit of better quality to the dryer.

The entire output of the dryer will be packaged by the California Prune and Apricot Growers Association which uses Sunsweet label on its products.

According to Hermann Gerdts, manager of the Campbell Co-Operative Dryer and superintendent for California Prune and Apricot Growers Association, the largest Cooperative Dryer expansion program since 1947 is being carried out this year. Fifty-four new dehydrating tunnels are being added to the various Sunsweet Dryers throughout the state.

In keeping with the growth of the plant this year great emphasis is being placed on increased cleanliness and sanitation in operations with the acquisition of another leaf disposal unit such as the one purchased in 1953.

Many new mechanical processes have been devised at the Campbell plant such as the box elevator and automatic dumper and automatic hopper. This phase of operation is carried out under the direction of G. K. Shrader, manager of the Sunsweet dehydration department, who was the original manager of the Campbell Co-op.

Recently the Campbell Co-Op acquired additional property on First St. in Campbell for storage facilities.

Officials of the Campbell Co-Operative Dryer are William Cilker, president; B. W. Steindorf, vice-president; Robert Scholz, secretary and E. W. Bucknall and J. V. Gomes, board of directors.

Cambrian Park Drainage Help Is Anticipated

A program seeking solution of the Cambrian Park drainage problem is being sought of the County Board of Supervisors, according to a letter from the City of San Jose. It is proposed that a cut-off be made from Ross Creek to Guadalupe River.

San Jose indicated a drainage program along Foxworthy Avenue between Kirk Road and the Guadalupe cannot be carried out until water originating in unincorporated areas on the southwest fringe of San Jose is taken care of. The letter alleges further that for the last several years lower Ross Creek has either flooded or been in danger of flooding which presents a problem to areas where building is under way.

Saratoga Feels Pulse On Plans To Become City

A Saratoga Chamber of Commerce committee on incorporation decided to ask other local civic organizations to join in disseminating information on possible incorporation of the community.

A written invitation will be sent to Saratoga organizations asking them to assist in making available the facts collected in recent studies on incorporation prospects. Purpose would be to have an informed public decide what action should be taken on these studies, one submitted by a local committee and the other supplied by the Coro Foundation of San Francisco.

The CofC committee was appointed last Monday evening following the decision of the Chamber and the Saratoga Merchants Association to merge their groups.

COUNCIL OPPOSES LIQUOR SALE AT NEWS STAND SITE

Three ordinances were approved by the city council Monday evening involving zoning and annexations, fire hose was purchased, an on-sale beer and wine application for a Winchester news stand was turned down, a contract for pound service was signed and the way cleared for annexation of an 84 acre tract.

The Lewis Smith tract north on Central and David Avenues was annexed by ordinance, the zoning of the newly annexed Warning tract west of Campbell was set for single family dwellings by ordinance and the Mayfair Packing Co. and Kuehnis property at Hamilton and Los Gatos-San Jose Road was approved through ordinance for a community shopping center.

A contract with the county to render pound service effective to June 30, 1955, was referred to City Attorney Joseph Bonacina who also was given a letter of complaint regarding parking a trailer on Cherry Lane allegedly in violation of a city ordinance.

The contract for hose for the new fire truck was let to American Rubber Co. on their bid of $25,779.

Council plans to purchase a new police car but deferred action for two weeks so that usages of various makes of cars in other cities may be studied.

Clearance to annex the 84 acre tract on the westerly limits of Campbell is sought, in keeping with a petition on file.

The council, through the city attorney has asked consent of the City of San Jose to annex the tract which is within 1.6 miles of an extended San Jose limits. State law requires such consent when the distance is less than three miles. The tract is bounded by Latimer avenue on the north, Campbell avenue on the south, San Tomas Aquino Creek on the east and an irregular line on the west and includes the properties of Isabel Belliciti, John Amato, Grazia Amato, Angelo and Rosalio Messina.

Mark Thomas, city engineer reported that plans for relocating the Camden avenue intersection with Winchester avenue have been dropped in favor of improvements at the present crossing. State, County and city officials are agreed, he said that Winchester avenue traffic can be channelized with traffic islands and electronic signalling devices, cost of which would be shared by the city and county with the county paying most of the bill. Thomas said the county is mainly interested in development of Winchester Avenue to four lanes and this would be a starting point and a means for allocating sums for needed improvements. He said the present intersection allows an outlet for Economy Lumber Company and does not disturb the grade crossing. Later on, under the master plan, Camden avenue may extend to Sunnyoaks to a parkway along San Tomas Aquina Creek in a northerly direction and it would extend easterly to connect with Route 5 Freeway.

Good Drainage Is Important, Says Engineer

In a talk Tuesday noon before the Campbell Kiwanis Club, Mark Thomas, city engineer, said that Water, sewers, streets and drainage are the important needs of a city and that drainage is a continuing factor. Most of the drainage in Campbell is toward Los Gatos Creek but new lands in the westerly part will drain toward San Tomas Aquina.

There are nine sanitation districts now in Santa Clara County and of these, District 4 which serves Campbell and Los Gatos, is the largest. The districts as a rule work with cities under contract, Thomas explained. He told of state moneys allocated, such as Chapter 20 funds which specifies how the money is to be spent and sets June 30 as the deadline for spending it. A listing of streets of major importance is set up for the city, carrying priorities. Winchester, Hamilton and Campbell avenues today being considered the important streets. Throughout Santa Clara County water supply and drainage are the two major problems. San Tomas Aquina Creek may rate first priority for carrying off storm waters.

Thomas was introduced by Joe Agostinho, program chairman.

NEED FOR A CIVIC CENTER

A committee from the city council and the city planning commission today has the important task of planning a civic center and park. It will not be something for immediate accomplishment, for the need is not that urgent; but it is a preliminary study for something which is inevitable with a growing community.

How such projects are to be financed, where they are to be located, when they are to be started, the extent of their usage and how they are to be supervised are all matters of import for such undertakings. While lands are available and at reasonable costs is certainly the time for starting such projects.

A civic center and city park can be valuable assets to a progressive city, and, just like the schools do in anticipating future growth, the city is well in line in its deliberations over its civic needs of the future. On the committee are Mayor Richard Morton, Councilmen Gordon Daum and James Arends, Planning Commissioners Homer Hyde, Guy Farley and Horace Logue.

THE STREET SWEEPER

The street sweeper moves about the business section in the early morning hours cleaning some of the debris. At the City Council meeting Monday evening, it was reported that some merchants were sweeping refuse into gutters after the street sweeper had made its regular service call and the question was raised why this stuff was not disposed of in a box to be taken away by the scavengers or deposited in the trash cans erected recently by the Lions Club.

There is nothing so impressive on the visitor in a community as its tidy streets, and nothing so hurtful as a busness section littered with debris. Campbell is in between these extremes. It would be well to seek improvement by keeping streets and gutters clear at all times. A visit to Denver, Colorado is impressive because its streets are always clean.

EMERGENCY POLIO CAMPAIGN

Spurred by the alarming summer rise in the incidence of polio in many areas of the country, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will launch an emergency fund drive to check the crippling plague. The drive will be carried out, in our community and thousands of others, from August 16 to 31, with a goal of $20,000,000 to supplement funds of the regular annual campaign of last January.

California is among the States hit hard by the latest upsurge in polio. There can be no doubt that all organizations and individuals that can promote interest in the drive and help speed it to success will do their bit—for polio, until it is finally and completely conquered, will remain a threat to every family on the American continent.

TAKE A LOOK

Maybe you won't believe it. but most people have only a vague notion of what they own. Attics and basements are full of stuff—much of which is useful and sometimes valuable—which has been forgotten. Individuals have been known to forget such things as bonds left in their bank safe deposit boxes, bonds on which coupons have not been clipped for years, and which may have expired. Instances also are not rare of bank accounts which have been forgotten. We mention this because it's a good idea to check around the house at least once a year and see what you have. Items no longer needed can often be sold (classified ads will do the job) or given away. Checking carefully through the contents of your safe deposit box every now and then is also desirable. Don't try to "remember" about securities or valuable papers by keeping them in the bureau drawer. That's an invitation to loss through fire or theft. At any rate, most of us are worth more than we think. The thing to do is to start looking around. You may be surprised at what you find.

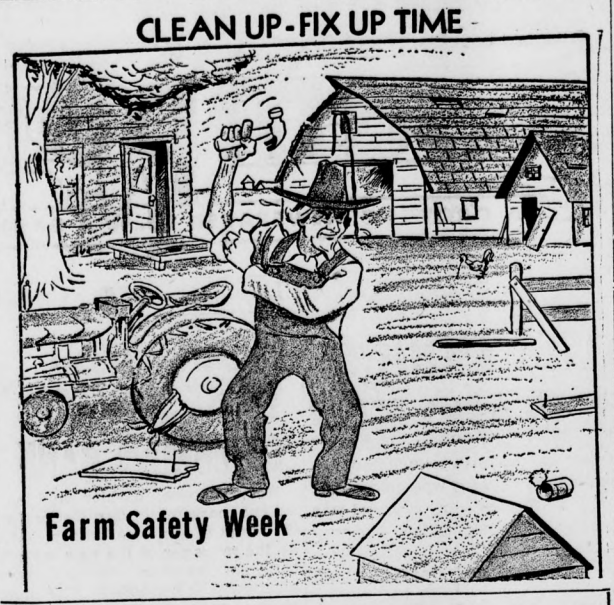
JOINT SESSIONS OF CONGRESS

A dramatic event takes place on Capitol Hill when Congress is in joint session. Congressman Charles Gubser tells about it when President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea spoke, as follows:

On the floor of the House, there is a flurry of excitement. Up on the rostrum, the Vice-President of the United States flanks the Speaker of the House. Still cameras click and motion picture cameras whirr from all sides. Then, the gavel falls, a hush descends upon the chamber, the crowd arises as the doorkeeper formally announces the arrival of the Supreme Court justices, the diplomatic corps. and the President's cabinet. At last, the guest of the day is announced, and as applause swells up from the floor and galleries the distinguished visitor is escorted into the chamber by a committee of Representatives and Senators of both parties, appointed respectively by the Speaker and the Vice President. Democrats and Republicans were laughing and bantering together. Politics, so very much alive moments before, had vanished. There was a general feeling of unity.

President Rhee's talk has been amply reported. I rarely have heard such roaring applause as he received. It was well deserved. No matter whether one agrees with his opinions, one must admire the fighting spirit of a man for whom death, indeed, is the only alternative to liberty.

CLEAN UP - FIX UP TIME



The Campbell Gambol

HORSELESS CARRIAGES went roaring past town Tuesday enroute to Berkeley from Los Angeles by way of Los Gatos to La Rinconada Country Club for lunch and then out Winchester avenue, huffing and puffing, some 75 or more of them, all 1915 models or older with Philip Sanfilippo of Campbell as the caravan's regional planner and coordinator . . . seemed to go along in an orderly manner too . . . down San Jose way come Saturday nights, some other old cars hit the track roaring like mad, pushing one another, spinning, scraping railings as the hard tops spin around the oval . . . drive in second all the way, they do, with shorter wheel on one side so as to take the curves easier, and how they ever manage to finish on the track is more than I can explain.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES . . . . The old swimmin' hole off Casey Road has dried up . . . prunes are starting to drop and the Sunsweet and Cooperative plants are getting ready for a record harvest in spite of many trees being removed in favor of new subdivisions . . . dirt is flying over at the Camden High School site as Contractor Edward Keeble grades forty acres preparatory for the new school facilities . . . Lions Club busy getting out their annual Community Calendar and interesting themselves in helping the needy blind . . . The group of teenagers who will clean your car inside and out for a dollar that will help defray cost of their attending a church conference.

EAGLE SCOUT John L. Duncan received a much coveted scout badge at Church services last Sunday, the second such award in Campbell in the last decade . . . it was the God and Country award in recognition of a year's work and study in Congregational Church . . . besides serving as church usher, being active in the Pilgrim Fellowship, studying the doctrines, organization and missionary activities of the church, Scouter John has made tape recordings of each Sunday service which he has faithfully taken to local shut-ins so that they too may get the Sunday sermon, and . . . this is one newspaper that is mighty proud to report these splendid activities of our teen-agers.

I'M BAFFLED about the good turn someone did for me this week too, for . . . returning from the City Council meeting late Monday evening there was a large box of freshly-picked Satsuma plums and another box of Elberta peaches on my doorstep, and I haven't the slightest idea who left them there, but whoever it was, I want to do a Liberace and say . . . Thank you, thank you, ladies and gentlemen, thank you very much indeed.

IKE STEPHENS WRITES ABOUT YANKS IN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES

EDITOR'S NOTE: This letter to C. P. Klassen from Orleans, France, is from Ike Stephens, son of Mrs. Hester Stephens of San Tomas and brother of the late Donald Stephens who died in a car accident since the letter was written on May 28th. The letter gives first hand information of conditions in Germany and France.

Orleans, France
28 May, 1954

Dear Mr. Klassen,

We moved to Orleans the last (21st) of April, and although we have only been here a month it seems like years. When I die I sure won't go to the bad place, 'cause I've already been there. Seriously though, this place is really for the birds, and you don't see any wings sprouting on me! Sure these are some good things too, like the annual "Joan of Arc" parade which I was so fortunate to see. Mr. Klassen, if ever you come to France, don't miss that. Literally thousands of men, women and children ranging from 8 years to 80 years old march all through the streets and conutryside of Orleans, wearing pure white dresses, blouses and socks and shoes. There are bands spaced so much space between them, and it is really a sight. Then come the Knights in shining armor on horses, and in the center of all this, in full bright armor also, and sitting on the most beautiful horse of all is a girl representing "Joan", and as she rides by, the crowd roars with all its vigor and enthusiasm. I may wait a few days and send a couple of pictures taken of the festivities. I'm also sending a few pictures that are in Mr. Langlo's letter that I mailed a few days ago, and I lost the negatives too, that you've already seen maybe, maybe not, but anyhow he has them. If you've already seen them, they make good for starting fires or putting in your garden to keep the crows away. Oh, one incident I forgot to mention that happened at the "Joan of Arc" festivities. It's not uncommon to see "Americans Go Home" painted on bridges, buildings, or even on cars, but after the parade we were walking on the outer suburbs of town, when a few small children, none over six years of age, started throwing rocks at us, and yelling "Amercans Go Home!" Well, you can't chase kids like that, or even get mad at them. They just don't know any better, and have been brought up like that. It's not uncommon to drive into town (if you have your own car, or even a Government vehicle), and have someone come along while you are parked, with a stone in their hand, and just go along the side of the car and scrape the paint off as they pass by. One of my friends even had his two front tires on his car punctured with a knife while he went into a store. The reason for all this is that there are still a lot of Communists (active), and even MORE card holders. (inactive). What I mean, there are the bad, and then there are the real bad. Around May Day we were restricted to our post here, because of the riots and things that usually occur by the Communists on May Day, and we were actually alerted for trouble, but the worst that happened was that they cut our pawer lines. Oh yes, they poured starch down one of the Generators, and wrecked a truck, and we had to keep all Army buses, and vehicles out of Orleans unless we wanted them upset. A few American cars were capsized.

We were in 7th Heaven in Hanau as far as duty goes. There we lived in beautiful buildings, had no KP or Guard, and here it's just the opposite. We pull KP and Guard every two weeks, and live in quanset huts double bunked with about 70 per hut. Really crowded. Of course since this post has just been started, we've no conveniences what-so-ever. Our movie is an old warehouse with straight backed chairs. I must admit though, that our offices are really nice. I have a new typewriter and new desk.

Just about a little less than a year I should be out of here. That is if they don't chase us out first. You asked if we were threatened by war any way over here. Well, I'm sure I can answer for the rest of the fellows as well as myself. There is always that hidden fear of war. Of course we don't want it, but still we don't see how it can be avoided over here. Just a few days ago they gave the dependents an orientation on what they were to do in case of a war, and where to go and all the necessary data. And we have the best equipment available, including the new type gas mask which is the best in the world. I just hope and pray that there won't be another war, because it will be in the U. S. this time I am afraid.

The prices here in France are just a little higher than the states. It doesn't even compare with Germany. Things were so cheap there. We are just about one or one and a half hours train ride from Paris, but as yet I haven't had a chance to visit gay "Paree". It's about five dollars for a round trip train ticket to Paris, (third class) and about nine or ten dollars for first class which isn't much better than third from what I've heard.

Mr. Langlo was telling me Don Lukehart was stationed in Honolulu. He is sure fortunate, not many get that assignment. If I remember right he was in the Navy, wasn't he?

So you tied with Fremont for the football championship AGAIN. I remember when I was on Mr. Langlo's B team and we were playing Fremont and some end tackled me, and poked me in the ribs on purpose. I got up mad as a horent, and ready to swing until I saw the size of that guy! I still don't see how he made the B team.

As yet I have not had a chance for a leave, but around Sept. I expect to hit Spain and Africa for seven days apiece. That is if I decide not to come home for Christmas this year. But that will cost quite a bit since we aren't allowed ta get hops across the ocean. And for a round trip just to Chicago is $528.00, just a trifle under my Army earnings! I have managed to save some money in the Army, but I will need that to sorta get me going in married life when I get home.

You were asking about our weather. Well, until today, the weather was like late Feb weather for California. Cold, windy, and occasional sprinkles of rain. But today is nice and warm. Nothing like California weather for this time of year! Do wish I could lie out on a C beach again soon.

The farmers grow just about the usual things as we do in the states, lots of radishes, carrots, cabbages and so on. But as yet I haven't seen any of "dos der watermelons" I love so well. Lots of grape vineyards, as you know France is famous for their wines and champagnes. As far as the machinery for their crops I've noticed a couple of McCormick and John Deere tractors, on the better looking farms. But the average is just the old plow horse. And the single bladed plow. Yes, the people can buy all the food and things they need, that is if they have the money. Things are pretty high and they are very poor. There is no rationing that I know if.

We use the theater for chapel services here. No matter where you go in the Army religious services are always in the offering. Indeed it is very hard to live the right kind of Christian life in the Army, but as long as you believe in the big fellow above, there are no worries that he can't take care of, and there are lots of times over here that you think about thing like that. Too few service men realize how close they need Christianity. As in Germany the people of France are very religious, and you see them out riding their bicycles, walking and in their old jalopies filled with children going somewhere on Sunday morning.

Very sincerely yours,
Ike

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones of Harriet Street, recently had as their houseguests Mr. and Mrs. Glen Walker of Seattle, Washington.

While the Walkers were here they attended the wedding of the Jones's granddaughter, Joyanne Jones to Mark N. Douglas at the First Methodist Church of San Jose on July 19 at 7:30 p. m.

The Reverend J. Wesley Farr officiated at the double ring ceremony.

For the wedding the bride selected a full length gown of white antique taffeta fashioned with an overskirt of white lace which she designed and made herself. Her finger-tip length veil was secured by a tiny cap of white and she carried her grandmother's Bible with a bouquet of white carnations.

Her maid of honor was Edith Alcock of Sunnyvale whose ballerina length dress was of aqua antique taffeta. She wore a tiny aqua-colored cap and carried white carnations.

Gloria Tiffany, a cousin of the bride, and Anna Sheehan of Glendale served as bridesmaids and were gowned in ballerina length dresses of mauve antique taffeta. They carried bouquets of summer lilacs and white carnations.

Beverly Whittaker, cousin of the bride, served as the candlelighter in the place of the bride's sister Judith, who was ill.

Robert A. Jones of Campbell, the bride's uncle, served as best man.

A reception followed the ceremony at the family home of the bride's parents in Cupertino.

Decorations about the house and patio were of multi-colored summer blossoms and flowers were banked at the fireplace.

A buffet table done in white held a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake.

Joyanne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Jones, former local residents, who now make their home in Jamaica, British West Indies. She is a graduate of Fremont High School and San Jose State College.

The bridegroom is the son of Lt. Commander and Mrs. Ivan Douglas who are in Japan and were unable to attend the wedding. He is a radioman in the U. S. Navy and is stationed in Norfolk, Virginia where the young people will make their home.

Other relatives of the bride attending the wedding were Mrs. Ella Janes, her maternal grandmother; Joan and Beverly Whittaker of Vancouver Island, Canada; Mrs. Olivia Shantz of Los Angeles and Mrs. Gloria Tiffany of Campbell.

Mrs. M. E. Millington of Oregon, the bridegroom's grandmother also attended.

Photographs of the wedding and the reception were taken by the bride's uncle, Glen Walker.

For her honeymoon the bride selected a black and white sheat dress with matching jacket which she wore with black velvet accessories. She pinned white carnations at the shoulder.

WORLD'S NEWEST SHOTGUN

The world's first semi-automatic shotgun that stays on target shot after shot as fast as the trigger is pulled has just been unveiled by Winchester after 16 years of research.

To the nation's 20 million shooters, one important result of the new Model 50's unique design is that recoil is 30 per cent softer than the average semi-automatic.

The Model 50 is the world's first self-loading shotgun with a non-recoiling barrel. A new-type independent chamber which moves less than one-tenth of an inch starts the entire cycle of operation. The new design completely eliminates the slap and clatter usually associated with a semi-automatic.

To the shooter who catches himself flinching, or who dislikes the "double-shuffle" of an automatic, the big news is pictured in the two graphs above. They compare the recoil effect of the new Winchester with that of an average self-loader.

The lines at the bottom of each graph represent duration of recoil. The wavy lines show the force of recoil as measured on an oscilloscope. The energy from the recoil of all shotguns using the same ammunition is always the same. But the conventional 12 gauge semi-automatic reaches a maximum force of 130 pounds abruptly.

Recoil of the Model 50 is "easier" on the shooter because it is spread over more time. The maximum is only 93 pounds. Thus, while the recoil of a conventional auto-loader can be described as a punch, recoil of the new Model 50 is a gradual pushing action.

Campbell BPWC Enjoys Barbecue

The Campbell Business and Professional Women's Club held their annual barbecue last Wednesday night at the home of Hannah Berglund.

Approximately 35 members and guests gathered to enjoy a dinner of barbecued turkey and baked ham served with all of the usual accompanying dishes.

Carolyn Coons, president of the Community Chest for 1954-55, spoke briefly on the activities of that organization.

Following the dinner a group of the husbands banded together and decided to form a B. P. W. C. auxiliary and to handle next year's barbecue as they felt they could do the job more effectively and with less bother.

CARE OF GARDEN TOOLS....

Now that the lazy summer months are upon us, there is not much to do in our gardens outside of keeping them well watered and fed. So let's go into the garage or tool shed to clean up and fix the garden implements and check supplies.

By far the best way to keep your garden tools in good repair is to care for them regularly, of course, cleaning them properly after each use. However, periodic refurbishing is recommeended.

Sharpen the edges of small tools such as edgers, saws and shears. Clean them well... kercsene is a good cleanser... and then oil. Do the same with the larger implements like the shovels, spades and hoes. Good cleaning and oiling prevent rust and will give these tools longer usability.

Don't forget the lawnmower. The blades should be sharpened, nuts and bolts cleaned thoroughly and all moving parts oiled. If the handle is beginning to look a little dingy, put on a coat of bright red paint. This will not only improve its appearance, but will help preserve it.

Now let's check the garden supplies. For your Fall lawn and planting you will need plenty of good fertilizer and a soil conditioner, in addition to insecticides, such as Bogey, and weed killers you should keep on hand at all times.

Checking your garden now, you'll find, will save you lots of time later on when you need some of these tools in a hurry and find they are rust-covered.

LITTLE LEAGUE LEADERS WILTING UNDER THE STRAIN; RACE IS CLOSE

Jack Puma put on a one-man show for Cambrian Plaza last Wednesday in a twilight game with Dalmotors in the little League classic, hurling a five-hitter, and knocking out two hits in three times at bat, scoring two of the runs and driving in two more. Fairbanks, the Cambrian left fielder also got two for three, while shortstop Petrea got two safeties in two trips up for the Dalmotors. Plaza won 7 to 3. John Sphar and Martin Castle were the umpires

Western Gravels took advantage of eight errors by Campbell Stampers to take an 11- 1 win. DiCenzo the Westerners backstop hit three for four as also did Sapien, their shortstop.. Kersey who had the pitching chores to do only yielded two hits to the Stampers, erstwhile league leaders, and he hit safely four times in four times up, scoring two of the runs. Box score:

9000 Adventists Encamp At Soquel

Soquel, August 5—Sabbath services at the local Seventh-day Adventist church will be suspended this Saturday as most members attend the final sessions of the denomination's 10-day camp meeting which closes here Saturday night.

Local Adventists will join some 9,000 other members of the church from 18 central California counties at the convocation which opened July 29. Some 2,000 people are housed in 600 family tents and score of trailers, and are living on the conference grounds throughout the session. The tent city is equipped with food store, post office, cafeteria, its own telephone company and police and fire departments.

At the opening session of the camp meeting, R. C. Baker, of San Jose, president of the Central California Conference of the church, stated that "the paralyzing fear which grips men's hearts today is the result of failure to obey the spiritual laws which God has instituted". He added that "when people fail to do what they know is right, the result is a feeling of fear and frustration. The human mechanism is designed to be controlled by a Divine Being and when man is guided by God he has peace of mind."

Prof. D. J. Bieber, principal of Monterey Bay Academy, Watsonville, declared that "world conditions today demand that young people put away their comic books and begin reading their Bibles."

Best bet to follow previous Pacific Coast League umpires into into the major leagues is Cece Carlucci. A completely competent official, he is respected throughout the loop. Many expect him to graduate to the big time next year.

With all the records baseball filberts keep, there would seem to be no phase of the game left uncovered. For instance, most hits by a left-handed second baseman to left field into the teeth of a five-mile-per-hour gale. However, player-throwing (both left and right-handed) by umpires seems to have been neglected.

This might be a record if it could be checked properly. In a recent game between Oakland and Sacramento umpire Al Mutart tossed Joe Brovia for tossing his bat. Then Nippy Jones was waved to dry-dock by ump Don Flecky in an argument about a ball Flecky called foul. Tony Frietas protested this action so vehemently that Mutart bounced him.

Hear Pat Hernon's Lucky Lager play-by-play re-creations of major league games of the day over KYA. For the week of August 8 the broadcast times are: Sunday (Braves-Giants), 11:15 a.m.; Monday and Tuesday (baseball classics), Wednesday (Athletics-Yankees), Thursday (Senators-Red Sox), Friday (Tigers-White Sox), Saturday (Giants-Dodgers). Monday through Saturday game broadcasts at 10:30 a.m.

Later, Hank Schenz got a rest for some remark he made to arbiter Jerry Van Keuren.

All this in the same inning — with Mutart getting a clear-cut 2-1 victory over his colleagues.

Bay Area sports fans are being courted to spend the weekend of August 20-21 in Sacramento. The promoters of the exhibition pro football game between the San Francisco 49ers and the Washington Redskins are offering for $17.50 a package deal which includes two box seats for the San Diego-Sacramento baseball game Friday night, hotel reservations and two reserved seats for the Saturday night football game.

There are indications that the New York Yankees are more nervous than usual in their quest for their sixth straight American League pennant. Manager Casey Stengel has been tossed out of more games already this year than during the previous five campaigns combined. Also Coach Frank Crosetti got the heave-ho — his first ejection since playing in the 1938 World Series against the Chicago Cubs.

The Australians are beating the drums for a couple of youngsters named Ashley Cooper and Roy Emerson, who, they say, will help keep the tennis supremacy of the amateur world in the Land Down Under. The Adventist educator pointed out that "we are approaching the end of the world's history and no noe who fails to obey the requirements of the moral law outlined in the Bible can have happiness." He urged youth "not to compromise their religious standards for the brief pleasures of sin."

Basic Needs Of Widowed Women Cited In Study

What are the basic physical and emotional needs of women who have lost their husbands and have few prospects of remarrying?

To find answers to this question, Dr. George Fitzelle of the University of California at Los Angeles home economics faculty recently interviewed 76 widows between the ages of 55 and 84. One of his questions was: "If you had only three wishes, what would you wish for?"

Most frequently cited by the widowed interviewees, all of whom were relatively free of financial need and of normal emotional adjustment, were these five basic needs:

1. Physical health and comfort.
2. Need to be useful.
3. Need to believe in something lasting.
4. Need to love and be loved.
5. Need for emotional security and freedom from anxiety.

Most of the widows who listed health needs first were not dissatisfied with their present health, says Dr. Fitzelle, but were fearful that any worsening of their health would make them dependent on family or relatives.

The U. C. L. A. professor found that, in general, the women who expressed the most altruistic wishes had higher emotional adjustment scores than those who didn't.

County Utilities Assessment Tops In State Averages

Utility properties were assessed today by the State Board of Equalization showing an increase of 7.8 percent for state assessment and12.2 increases for county assessment, the latter percentage being the highest of any of the 48 counties. The valuation os state-assessed tangible property is $50,084 for 1954 as compared with $46,476 in 1953. The county assessed tangible property for utilities is $502,584 for 1954 as compared with $447,859 in 1953.

These state-assessed values, together with county-assessed values of over $15,860,000,000, bring the aggregate local property tax base for the 1954-55 fiscal year to approximately 18.2 billion dollars, according to George R. Reilly, Chairman of the State Board of Equalization. Reilly predicted htat the taxes that will be levied on this base for the support of counties, cities, school districts, and other local governments will come close to $1,100,000,000.

Christian Science

How the individual can find true joy, health, and courage through gaining a spiritual understanding of God will be explained at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Spirit" is the Golden Text from Galatians (5:22, 23): "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law."

The blessings bestowed on man by God, divine Spirit, will also be brought out in readings from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, including the following (78:27-30): "Spirit blesses man, but man cannot 'tell whence it cometh.' By it the sick are healed, the sorrowing are comforted, and the sinning are reformed."

From the Bible, the following passage will be among those read (John 2: 24): "God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

Christina Flynn Enrolls In First Stenotype Course

San Jose State College is now conducting the first machine shorthand teachers' class in the country during its current summer session.

Business division chairman E. W. Atkinson reports that among the twenty-one teachers from all over the state enrolled for the six-weeks course is Miss Christine Mary Flynn of Campbell Union High School.

The stenotype group was pioneered at San Jose because the new machine technique is now being taught in 40 schools throughout the state. Also, Dr. Atkinson said, it is used wherever stenography is required, gaining much attention during the recent Army-McCarthy hearings, as well as congressional hearings.

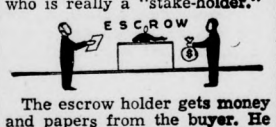
ESCROW

What does an "escrow" do?

For one thing, it helps a great deal in buying and selling land and homes. Suppose, through a real estate man, you find a buyer for your place. But he may not want to pay in full until you can give him clear title. So you agree on terms, and both of you use the escrow to put the deal through.

As a rule you work out most deals before you open the escrow. Look carefully at "preliminary arrangements," "deposit receipts" or escrow instructions. For such papers may be binding. As a rule, one or more of them will be your basic contract.

What is an escrow? It is a deposit of money or documents, or both, with an escrow holder, who is really a "stake-holder."



The escrow holder gets money and papers from the buyer. He gets documents from the seller, and he carries out instructions of both. As a rule, in the escrow instructions the seller and buyer tell the escrow holder what to do and when.

The seller may tell the escrow holder:

To order a policy of title insurance; pro-rate real estate taxes, rents, insurance; record the deed; pay the real estate fee; and pay proceeds to the seller; etc.

The buyer may have the escrow holder:

Pro-rate real estate taxes, rents, insurance; receive money from the buyer; pay the seller at close of escrow; receive and record the deed from the seller, etc.

As a neutral go-between, the escrow holder, which is often a title company, may only carry out instructions you give him. He cannot, for example, give you advice as to whether your deal is a good one, or give legal advice.

For example, a man or wife may take title to a home in many ways, such as in joint tenancy, as community property, or as separate property. How they take title affects the taxes they pay, the way they own the property between them, the way their estate will be handled upon death, and their property rights in case of divorce. The escrow man may see that the title is passed the way you ask, but he cannot give you advice as to how it will work out.

CAR INSURANCE RATES REDUCED

An average reduction of over 12% in automobile liability insurance rates for private passenger cars garaged in the Peninsula territory, effective immediately, was announced today by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters on behalf of its member companies.

The Peninsula territory stretches from the northern line of San Mateo County south to and including San Jose and Milpitas. The western boundary runs along Skyline Boulevard except that between Burlingame and San Francisco, the territory extends all the way over to the coast include Sharp Park.

The reduction will benefit an estimated 100,000 private passenger car owners on renewal of their policies, according to Rollo E. Fay, Pacific Coast Manager of the National Bureau.

The reduction is possible because of improving conditions in the settlement of claims, the Bureau said.

Companies comprising the National Bureau which will use the lower rates are companies which sell insurance through local, independent insurance agents or brokers.

The automobile liability insurance rate is comprised of two charges, one for bodily injury liability protection and the other for property damage liability protection. The amount the policy buyer pays is the combination of these two charges.

Steelhead Rescue Sets New Record In County Streams

More than a quarter-million steelhead fingerlings were saved this year, to set an all-time record in Santa Clara County's annual fish rescue operation, State Department of Fish and Game Region III Headquarters here reported today.

Fighting against time, rescue teams of State and County workers moved the record number of fingerlings to better streams in six short weeks. Then low water and heavy moss accumulations stopped the operation at June's end.

Most of the young steelhead were taken from a seven-mile stretch of Uvas Creek, which is the main steelhead nursery for the Pajaro River drainage.

Approximately 183,300 were replanted in suitable waters of the Upper Pajaro and streams in nearby drainages, including numerous ponds. The remaining 84,000 were transported to the Mokelumne River in San Joaquin County in an effort to rehabilitate a steelhead run there.

The rescue work was a cooperative operation by Department of Fish and Game Region III Inland Fisheries and Wildlife Protection personnel assisted by the Santa Clara County warden.

Golden Gate Park in San Francisco, once shifting sand dunes, is now the world's largest man-made park.

Storm Drainage Priority Set Up

A priority list of storm drainage prospects in each of the five flood control zones in the county is to be established by the board of supervisors in the near future.

At the recommendation of County Engineer Leonard Bushnell the board Monday directed that the advisory committees for the zones make priority recommendations by Aug. 16.

Campbell area is in the central zoone which has its most critical flood problem in the water sheds into San Tomas and Los Gatos creeks.

Bushnell said it is hoped to complete some of the most important projects before the winter rains.

Senator John F. "Jack" Thompson announces that the Senate Interim Committee on Education will meet in San Jose during November. Thompson states he has received a letter in reply to one he wrote to Senator Dilworth, Chairman of the Committee, in which Senator Dilworth says there is a need for further information and further discussion on the subject of Assembly Bill 1.

Mrs. Marianna Carr, in charge of research and investigation for the Senate Interim Committee on Educatiion, discussed this situation with Thompson on a visit here last year, and he arranged a meeting with her and several of the school superintendents of the area.

Senator Dilworth has requested Thompson to make all of the arrangements here for the meeting, and the date will be set in the near future.

TIRE CARE WILL SAVE MILEAGE

During the hot summer months, when the family car is getting a tougher-than-usual vacation workout, the old axiom about an ounce of prevention really counts—especially when it comes to caring for tires.

Dent W. Sanford, vice president of Goodyear-California, yesterday outlined some of the precautions motorists should take to protect their tires and insure steady, safe driving.

"Most important in the summer," he said, "is not to 'bleed' air out of tires when they're hot. Vacationists stopping at a service station in mid-afternoon will check their tires and, finding some pressure build-up, they let out some air. It's one of the quickest ways to a blow-out."

The Goodyear executive explained a low-inflation tire flexes and builds up heat and pressure. But the heat, or part of it, remain in the tire carcass. "So if you 'bleed' your tires, you're only piling heat on heat," Sanford said.

Periodic examination of tires by competent service establishments and visual inspection each morning by the motorist, especially if he's driving long hours, are important steps, Sanford said.

New Fuchsia To Be Introduced At San Mateo Fair

Henry Lancendorfer, president of the San Mateo County Fuchsia Society, has spent the past five years developing a beautiful new fuchsia and has named it "Burlingame". It has full, pale pink innner petals shading to deep blush pink outer petals. Lancendorfer plans to introduce the new variety at the coming San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta, August 6 through 14. The Burlingame Fuchsia will be put on the market this fall.

In Lancendorfer's garden at his home, 1201 Bernal Avenue, Burlingame, are more than 400 varieties of fuchsias. For the past five years he has been "seriously interested in developing new varieties." "At the present time my wife and I have about 40 crosses, some of which we hope will be ready to be introduced in another year," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Lancendorfer are also busy with the Fuchsia Society's Fiesta exhibit.
